

TUESDAY EVENING. OCT. 30, 1906

INSPECTOR GENERAL GARLINGTON of the army, has recommended that three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, a colored regiment, be disbanded and that every enlisted man be discharged from the service without honor for declining to give the names of those mem bers of the command who conducted themselves in a riotous manner at Browns ville, Tex., last August. It is under stood that the recommendation of Gen Garlington passed through Secretary Taft's hands without definite indorse ment, and it is more than probable the President will take no action until after November 8-for political reasons.

THE ELECTION is near at hand are every democratic voter in the district should go to the polls and cast his vote for Hon. John F. Rixey for Congress. While no one considers his opponent a all dangerous, still it would be a just recognition of Mr. Rixey's faithful services to give him the largest majority he has ever received. Mr. Rixey having been obliged, by reason of ill health, to remain away from home has been prevented from making a canvass and this should spur his friends on to greater exertion in his behalf.

AN EPIDEMIC of duels is threatened in Havana as the result of political grudges, arising from the revolution. It is believed that over thirty have so far been arranged, and will take place within the next two weeks. A few have already been fought between minor officials of the government and former revolution ary officers, but they have been entirely harmless as will be the others to be fough The Cuban is even more ridiculous than the F each duel-if such were possible

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) will take no further move to combat the outburst of feeling in Japan against this country. It was learned today that Sec-retary of Commerce and Labor Metcal has been instructed by the President, among other things, to ascertain definite ly if Japanese children have been ex-cluded from the San Francisco schools, as claimed in Japan, or whether there has simply been an application of the age limit for admission to the public schools which has prevented the attendance of Japanese youths of twenty or more years. The State Department, while still much concerned over the sudden dislike for America which has developed among the Japanese people, is inclined to believe that the troubles between the two countries will find a satisfactory adjustment which will lead to a return to those friendly feelings which have animated the people of the two countries in the past. Disgust mixed with amusement was the feeling shown by officials of the State Department today when their attention was called to what they character ize the remarkable speech made in Ber-liu last Saturday by Prof. Burgess of Columbia University, who is the first incumbent of the Theodore Roosevelt professorship of American bistory at the University of Berlin, Germany. The statements made by Prof. Burgess that high protective tariff and the Monroe doctrine are obsolete in this country are stigmstized as canards manufactured by Prof. Burgess without any authority from any one connected with the American government. It was declared at the State Department to day by a high officials that the Monroe doctrine was not only not obsolete, but was even more than ever one of the fundamental principles of the United States government and one which it was the intention of this country to uphold always. While the President it is said is doing his ptmost to encourage friendly relations between the United States and Germany there is authority for the statement that

Mrs. Hartje Rejects Deal With Husband Clifford Hooe, the negro formerly employed as coachman by Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufactures, and now on trial in the Pittsburg courts for perjury as the result of an affidavit that he had been too friendly with Mrs. Hartje, is on trial because attorneys for the Commonwealth and Mrs. Hartje refused to accept a plea of nolle contendere, or no defense, for him.

The offer of such a plea was made by

The profler of Mr. Fer-guson to plead nolle contendere was with the idea of allowing Hooe to go to the penitentiary and let Hartje escape the possible consequences of his alleged non-spiracy. Inspite of the awful character of the testimony the negro gave on the wit-ness stand in his own defense, and which Mrs. Hartje has been told to expect, she insisted upon his trial, in order that the evidence might be used against Hartje to punish him for his effort to blacken her name in his now famous divorce proceed ings against her.

Lover Found. New York, Oct. 30 -Flashing over the cable across the wide expanse of the Atlantic, interrupting for a brief moment the exchange of sordid business com-munications, went one brief little mes-sage which carried more joy to the re-cipient than has come into her life in six long years.

"Albrecht is found," read the message, and it told to a love-sick girl across the water, that her faithful wait of years for a missing lover had been rewarded and the search she had prosecuted for the man of her choice has at last been

This girl is the daughter of an Amercan millionsire, and for six years she has waited for the return of a lover who left her to seek his fortune when her cruel parents forbade his attentions at hat time because they believed the man to be a mere fortune hunter.

Albrecht Becker, former officer in the German army, is the mso. Since she parted from him in New York in 1900 he girl has heard no word from him. she has remained faithful to him and refused other suitors, even when she received apparently authentic informa-tion that Becker, disappointed and dis-couraged, had killed hims If in Chicago. Until she knew positively of his death she said she would not give him up. Then the parents relented. Believing that the restoration of her lover would alone bring her happiness, they eagerly began a search for him, and this hunt has at last proved successful.

Becker has been located in Florida Word of his whereabouts was brought to Adolt Kauffman, who has been in charge of the search, yesterday. Today the message was sent to the girl and a man started south to identity Becker and tell him of the good fortune in store for him.
At present Becker is employed as time keeper for the East Coast Railway at $60 a month. He is known among his fel-low employes as "Dutch Al." George Schneider, a civil engineer who worked with Becker, brought the word of where he is When Kauffman's agent finds "Dutch Al," Becker, will not only learn that his former sweetheart has remained true to him, but will find that a comfortable for une awaits him. His father cut the young man off without a cent, but his sister, the Baroness Von Kaskel, to whom the family fortune was left, has lecided to share it with her brother.

Love and fortune will come to Becke ogether if the identification of "Dutch l'' proves correct.

The Atlantic City Horror,

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 30 -Several additional bodies of victims of the railway disaster on the Thoroughfare bridge were discovered today by divers. They were buried in the mud under the trucks of the second car which have not yet been raised. From eight to fourteen of the passengers of the ill-fated train are still unaccounted for. Hope that any of them is alive has about been abandoned and it is expected the total death list will be fixed at 66.

Dynamite will be employed to destroy the trucks of the coach which are still at the bottom of the creek. Fifty-three of the victims have already been identified and one unidentified body remains at the morgue. That wreckers are responsible for the terrible railway disaster of Sunday is the latest theory advanced to account for the accident, and it is given by no less an authority than Chief of Police Maxwell. He believes river pirates may have pur-posely wrecked the train for spite. The police have discovered that Daniel Stewart, tender of the bridge, recently has had trouble with river pirates and had twice been assaulted because of his warfare upon them. Chief Maxwell believes it is more than possible some of the rough element may have tampered with the draw out of revenge. Detectives are now looking for three men who the police say may be able to throw some light on the matter.

Unsatisfactory Sentence.

There is much dissatisfaction in Henrico county over the sentence of 20 years' imprisonment meted out to Austin Johnson, the negro twice converted of criminally assulting an 11 year old white child, Roth Pinchbeck Johnson at his first trial was sentenced to death, but the supreme Court of the State reversed the decision on the ground that evidence discovered after the trial discredited it. At the second trial the testimony of an important witness for the prescution was not admitted, the Supreme Court's decision having the windoubt on it. The Common-wealth's Attorney himself is not satisfied with the result of the second trial, and it is possible that the State may again appeal the case. Judge Clopton, in passing sentence Saturiary, declared that he was "fully satisfied" of the prisoner's guilt and told the negro he was fortunate in the jury's failure to condemn him to die.
